LAS VEGAS (November 14, 2007) – The global economy has a new partner. JCM American and each of the JCM offices around the world are now united under one moniker: JCM Global(TM). The change is more than just cosmetic, and customers will immediately notice the positive change in every office around the globe.

JCM Global USA President Akiyoshi Isoi said, "Our global offices are now of a united mindset, providing consistent, top-level sales, engineering and service for the world's best systems solutions. Our customers will benefit like never before, because now we are offering a united global network of leading experts, utilizing our combined knowledge and skills to provide each customer with personalized, true world-class service."

Isoi will direct development and day-to-day business of all Global divisions. He said, "Each of JCM's offices will share a new common brand image and logo, and can now be easily accessed under the common URL <http://www.jcmglobal.com>. As JCM Global, the company will offer consistency in products, services, warranties and service."

In JCM Global USA, Tom Nieman has been promoted to Senior Vice President of Operations, and John Garner has joined the team as Senior Vice President of Finance. JCM Global UK has retained David Morosoli as Managing Director, and Bepi Mottes has been promoted to Managing Director of JCM Global Germany.

Now united as JCM Global, the company is taking the Global Gaming Expo by storm. From booth #2459, JCM Global is advancing its history of innovation with the groundbreaking Trident Table Safe System. Trident creates a total revolution in the casino business. For the first time, cash table transactions are automatically captured and reported in real-time, providing base line accuracy and real time control to the pit, something that until now only the slot floor has enjoyed.

JCM is also showing the Intelligent Cash Box (ICB®), a technology that unites the gaming floor and equally serves both slots and table games by improving a casino's overall accounting efficiencies. ICB Technology automates processes, eliminating human errors. ICB provides a secure report of every transaction accepted and accurately links those transactions to the machine/or table the cash box was taken from.
